HAVE JUST RECEIVED

From LEE'S PATENT and FAMILY MEDICINE Store, New York,

A FRESH SUPPLY,

OF THE FOLLOWING GENUINE

MEDICINES.

A sovereign remedy for Colds, obstinate Coughs, Asthmas, sore throats, and approaching Consumptions, and most disorders of the Breast and Lungs.

The celebrity acquired by this medicine through the U. States, for speedily removing coughs, colds, hoarseness, &c. exceeds all former examples. The following recommendation, selected from a very numerous list, will fully confirm what has been said of its unparalleled excellence.

"To H. LEE.

"Being desirous to make public, for the good of others, the excellent quality of HAMILTON'S ELIXIR, prepared by the late Mr. LEE, I have sent you the following account of the benefit I have received from it, which I hope will induce others to give it a trial. In consequence of a bruise on the breast, received from a fall, my health grew bad, my breath being difficult, and frequently I have had suddenly to rise up in my bed, with all the horrors of immediate suffocation. Add to these, constant pain in my breast, a cough, a great loss of flesh and strength, and you may conceive that my symptoms evidently indicated an approaching consumption. The advice of a most eminent physician was resorted to, and afterwards a second was called in, but without giving me any relief. Another physician who knew me, and the circumstances of my case, advised me to give "Hamilton's Elixir" a trial, saying he had used it in his practice, and always found it to do much good. A bottle was procured, and I found relief before I had taken half of it. I continued to use it, and was soon strong enough to attend to business. On taking cold, some of my former symptoms returned, but are always removed by a dose or two of the Elixir.

"GEORGE BRENER, JR.

"No. 21, Budd street, Philadelphia."

HAMILTON'S ELIXIR.

Will prove a valuable acquisition to public speakers, who may be subject to temporary hoarseness and thickness of speech. In long confirmed Asthmatic complaints where a cure can scarcely be expected, this medicine affords immediate relief, moderating the fits of coughing, and rendering their recurrence less frequent. On children afflicted with the hooping cough, the like beneficial effects may confidently be expected.

HAMILTON'S WORM LOZENGES.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar title, so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary, a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contain nothing but what is perfectly innocent, and is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the tenderest infant of a week old, should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels, of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms, and many fatal disorders.

Mineral Waters.

THE subscribers respectfully inform the public, that they have commenced making SODA and SELTZER WATERS, for the season, and having been at considerable expence in procuring ice, they flatter themselves they will meet with that encouragement due to the establishment. The qualities of these waters are so well known that it is scarcely necessary to enumerate them. It must be observed, however, that they are recommended by the most eminent physicians in this country, in all cases of debility: they particularly tend to strengthen the stomach, promote appetite and digestion; as an agreeable and pleasant drink they are unequalled; their exhilirating qualities being such as to supercede the necessity of spiritous liquors; they are therefore particularly suited to females whose delicate constitutions require a moderate stimulous without impairing health. The Soda Water operates as a mild cathartic, and is peculiarly suited to persons of costive habits. The price of tickets is 50 cents per dozen being the same as in Philadelphia and New York; each ticket entitles the bearer to a half pint tumbler of water. Persons residing at a distance can have it put up in bottles.

We, the subscribers, having examined the Mineral Waters prepared by Messrs. Avery & Van Zandt, are of opinion that they are equal in quality to any made in the U. States, and therefore recommend them to the public, in all cases above described.

Extracts from General Wilkinson's Defence.

[The Trial of Gen. Wilkinson has excited so much interest during the winter past, that we presume it will be acceptable to our readers to see a part of his defence. It is said the trial will be published as soon as the sentence of the Court is made known. The following extracts are made from the exordium and conclusion of the General's defence.

Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Court,

"The case before you, however afflicting to the sensibilities of a soldier, has become too common in our history, as well as that of other nations.

The conflicts of ministers and generals, appear to be the necessary consequences of every unsuccessful military expedition; failure produces discontent, discontent murmurs, murmurs recrimination, and recrimination inquiry. It is presumed there has been a fault somewhere; the public mind becomes restless, and the people must be satisfied, even at the expense of a hundred thousand dollars, without a cent of profit, as in the present case.

This would be well, were good to come of it; but as personal controversy seldom mends the heart or improves the understanding, it never should be suffered on slight grounds.

An upright and able minister would prefer to rest his political standing on his own reputation, sooner than seek to prop it by the prosecution of a faithful, zealous, but unfortunate general. Such was the conduct of a Chatham, whose example it is impossible an Armstrong could imitate.

But my case is, perhaps, without an example: That of a minister of high standing and splendid talents, seducing an officer from an honourable command and the fairest prospects of fame, to put him on the execution of an impracticable project, without competent means; and because of its failure, to save himself from public odium, he descends to tricks, stratagems and perfidies, to cast the blame he has incurred from his own shoulders upon those of the officer he had deceived; and this officer! a man with whom he had been associated in the most interesting scenes of the revolutionary war; the friend of his juvenile days, to whom he professed to be bound by the most sacred ties of personal confidence and attachment!

Mr. President, I disclaim high colouring in a case of such gravity, and should disdain to excite the feelings or warp the judgment of my judges, were I capable: the disclosures about to be made will test the truth, and determine my title to credibility.

From the common anxiety we have felt, to conclude the procrastinated investigation with as little delay as possible, I have undertaken to perform in twelve days, a work which required a month. It must not therefore be expected that I should present this defence in that connected, prepared state, with that regularity and complete arrangement and analysis of the testimony, which it was my desire to submit to the deliberate understanding of this Court, and to the sober reflections of my countrymen.

In forming a judgment on the whole or any distinct part of my conduct, I flatter myself the court will be determined by circumstances as they appeared at the time; by the decisions of the moment and the apparent exigencies of the occasion; not by an after knowledge of facts, which could not be known at the time.

Before I enter upon the investigation of the testimony, I consider it a matter of propriety towards the court, briefly to state the course I shall pursue: It will be recollected that a report touching the merits of that part of the campaign of 1813, in which I was concerned, at the call of the House of Representatives, was made up by my accuser and presented to that honorable body in the session of 1813--14; and it has been admitted by the court, that that report should be taken as "prima facie" evidence on this inquiry; I have availed myself of this permission, to present such parts of that report to the view of the court as tend to throw light upon the enquiry before it, and to explain the principles and motives of my actions in command, from the first order received at the dawn of the late war, to the termination of my command on the northern frontier last April.

I shall then, Mr. President, open the case with a brief narrative of facts and incidents; after which I shall proceed to compare and apply the testimony, and will conclude with a rapid summary of the whole."

CONCLUSION.

"The artifices of my accuser prevailed; he deprived me of my sword in the dawn of the campaign; threw me out of the path of glory, and the injury is irreparable.

The troops formed and disciplined in hardships and sufferings and perils, under my orders, when fitted for action and prepared to meet the enemy were destined to gather laurels to decorate the brows of more fortunate men.

But amidst the ills inflicted upon me by this tyrant, the hand of Heaven was outstretched in my behalf; and the disgraceful flight of the destroyer of the capitol of his country, placed the office he had abused in honorable hands, and secured to me a impartial tribunal to judge my cause. A tribunal, the first in point of rank and experience, one only excepted,* which ever assembled in the United States. But, Mr. President, I possess other sources of consolation, which no earthly power can take from me. I have borne arms and faithfully served my country through three wars: nay more—I have saved her from a civil war. How many toilsome days have I labored for the honor of my country!—How many sleepless nights have I watched over her safety! Thirty-nine years past I marched a company over the very ground on which I now stand arraigned; then waste, wild and uncultivated; now the scene of industry, of wealth, and of talents; the seat of social refinement, of personal charms, and polished society; In October next it will be thirty-eight years since I led the captive Burgoyne from his entrenchments to surrender an army of six thousand veteran troops of Europe, on the plains of Saratoga, under a convention countersigned by the hand, which now presents it to this honorable court, with the prayer, that it may be permitted to accompany the records of this day, and find a place in the archives of the war department.

Mr. President, may the war-worn veteran with a ruined constitution, the fruits of the services of his whole life, and staggering under the load of obloquy heaped on him by his accuser, be permitted to produce a more recent instance of his zeal in the public service, to shew that if he has not been triumphant; that if he has been deprived of the opportunity to swell his humble fame in torrents of blood, his time has not been uselessly employed to the state!

The testimonials of those meritorious, gallant officers, Com. Macdonough and Major General Macomb, (see app. No. 79) seconded by the credential of a respectable eye witness, a citizen of this state, will prove beyond doubt, that my agency contributed essentially to our naval triumph on Lake Champlain, and the preservation of our garrison at Plattsburgh. From these documents it will appear, that but for my precaution in establishing a battery at the mouth of Otter creek, the early movement of the enemy made against that point in May last, would have blocked up our squadron for the season. The shores of the Lake would have been exposed to his ravages, and Plattsburgh must have yielded to his superior force.

Mr. President and Gentlemen, whatever may be my future destiny, a destiny at this moment wrapt in clouds, I shall bear in grateful recollection the patience with which you have waded through the tedious enquiry. I confide in the justice of your award, because I am satisfied it will be founded in integrity. Whatever it may be, I am prepared to meet it with complacency, and were it proper for me to express a wish on the awful occasion, which interests my feelings closer than life itself, I should say—If guilty, let my punishment be exemplary—If innocent, acquit me with honor. Then I shall not have lived in vain."

THE COGITATIONS OF MY UNCLE JOHN.

Passing along the west end of Thornville, one pleasant afternoon in April, Mrs. Caperton observed to me, that it was a good while since we had drank tea with Mr. Neville and his lady, and proposed that we should call. I had not the least objection, and were received with a cordial welcome both by Sir and Madam. Mr. Neville about 23 years before, had married a fine spirited girl; they had 13 lovely children, and it was whispered, Mrs. Caperton told me, that the nose of the youngest was nigh being broken. Their fortune was easy—plenty always smiled upon their board, but what arose from a foolish spirit of contradiction about trifles, for in every important matter they agreed perfectly. But this was a source of endless difficulty, and the bane of all their happiness.

While we were sitting by the window after tea, we observed at a distance a fire rising upon the side of the hill. Some persons were in the habit of kindling these fires to make the grass grow better, as the mountain was an outlet for their cattle. Every thing till this moment had gone on right pleasant. Mr. Neville remarked that the sight brought the old distich to his mind:

"Fire on the mountain,
"Run boys—run boys."

"I believe you are a little wrong," said Mrs. Neville, "in the termination. It is

"Fire on the mountain,
"Run boys—run."

"It is no great matter my love," said he pettishly, "but I am sure I am not mistaken, whoever else may be."

"Some folks always think themselves right," cried Mrs. Neville, "and ignorance and confidence generally go together."

"Bray a fool in a mortar," exclaimed Mr. Neville "you know the rest Madam."

"Yes," cried she, "and answer not a fool according to his folly too, or I could say something that some folks could not very well swallow, sir."

"Will you walk Mrs. Caperton," said I. She rose, took her bonnet and shawl.

"I am sorry we have drove you away friends," said Mrs. Neville, mildly, "but Mr. Neville is so unkind not to bear the least with me," added she, casting a side look at him.

"Indeed Eunice," said he, my temper is so hasty, come love, don't let our friends leave us in a pet."

We exchanged "good night"—"good night," and left them with the remark that will apply to more families than neighbor Neville's. That the happiness of the domestic circle is often disturbed about trifles, for want of a rein upon our passions, than by any causes affording serious ground of complaint.

The hint it is hoped will be taken, and this truth remembered, that where there is not domestic happiness, felicity does not exist. Religion is most likely a stranger, and morality will be very soon in exile.

And what is the conclusion of the whole matter?

GOVERN YOUR PASSION!

THE UNNATURAL SON.

——Filial ingratitude!
Is it not as this mouth should tear this hand
For lifting food to't? [SHAKESPEARE

M. BERTIN wished to see his native country, (Perigord) from which he had been long absent, he went to pay a visit to one of his old friends, whom he had not heard from for more than a year.—Upon his arrival at the house, he was received by a son of his friend, who told him that his father had been dead about a year. Though he was struck with the news which was so unexpected, it did not prevent him from going in. He conversed with the son upon the state of his affairs, and frequently interrupted the conversation to regret the loss of his old friend. At night he was conducted to his apartment, which he found to be the same that the deceased had occupied.—This circumstance contributed not a little to keep alive his sorrow, and to prevent him from sleeping. He continued awake till 2 o'clock in the morning, when he heard the door of his chamber open, and by the feeble glimmering of a night lamp, and of the fire which was still burning, he perceived the figure of an old man, pale, wan, and excessively thin, with a long and dirty beard, who, shivering with cold, was walking on slowly towards the chimney. When he was near the fire he seemed to warm himself eagerly, saying, "Ah! it is a long time since I saw the fire!" In his voice, figure and manner, M. Bertin, who was seized with terror, thought he recognized his old friend, the master of the house. He was neither able to speak to him, nor to leave the bed; when the old man turning towards the bed and sighing, said, "Ah! how many nights have I passed without going to bed!" and as he said it, he came forward to throw himself upon it. The terror which M. Bertin felt, made him leap out precipitately, crying out, "Who are you? What do you want?" On hearing his voice, the old man looked at him with astonishment and immediately knew him. "What do I see," cried he, "M. Bertin! my friend, M. Bertin!"—"and who are you," cried M. Bertin. The old man then mentioned his name; and the other recovering gradually from the fright, learned with horror, that his friend had been confined a year in one of the castle cells, by his son, assisted by a servant that daily brought him food, and had given out that his father was dead, in order that he might get possession of his property.—On that very day, as he afterwards learned, the arrival of M. Bertin, who was not expected, having thrown the house into confusion, the servant who carried provisions to the unfortunate old man, had not properly fastened the door of the cell when he went away; and the latter perceiving it, waited till all was quiet in the castle, and under cover of the night, endeavored to escape; but not finding the keys of the outer door he naturally took the way to his apartment, which, though in the dark, he easily found.—M. Bertin called up his servant without loss of time; said he wished to depart immediately without waking the master of the castle; and took the old man with him to Perigeux, where they arrived at day-break. Proper officers were directly dispatched to arrest the unnatural son; who suffered what his crimes deserved, by being shut up in the same cell in which he had confined his father.

BOSTON, April 15.

We are informed by letters from Castine of the 8th inst. that the British troops would evacuate that place in a few days. A detachment of the 29th regt. embarked on that day. Gen. COSSELIS had given up his authority there, except over his troops, and the American Custom House was opened on the 7th. The collector was receiving duties on goods imported into Castine during its occupacy by the British troops, by special directions from the treasury department.

Letters from Canada mention the probability, that all the British regiments now in the Canadas, Nova Scotia, &c. will be retained there on the peace establishment; but that the officers will receive furloughs to visit their friends in Europe. Several of them are now in the United States, among them General Brisbane, the Marquis of Twedale, and the Hon. J. B. O'Neill, Col. of the 19th light dragoons.

The tune changing.—Some of the old sticklers for the war, begin to complain most grievously of what Mr. Jefferson denominates "domiciliary vexations;" which have now commenced to be employed in collecting the War Taxes.

CHARLESTON, (S. C.) April 10.

By the Russian brig Post Von Riga, we have received files of Belfast papers to the 1st of February, but do not discover any thing of importance in them.—We learn from a passenger that the London papers of the 30th of January, contained intelligence from Vienna, that every thing had been amicably settled by the Congress. The peace with America had given to Great-Britain a commanding influence in that body, and to that circumstance was attributed in some measure, the speedy termination of the subjects in controversy.

By recent arrivals from the West-Indies, information has been received, stating, that the admiral lately arrived at Martinique from France, has declared the island of St. Domingo in a state of blockade. This was what was to be expected, as a preparatory measure for the reduction of that valuable colony, and we took occasion some time since to apprize our readers, that such would be the case, in all probability.

If there be one set of people of the French nation, to whom the accursed revolution has produced more calamity than to another it is to the unfortunate inhabitants of St. Domingo. It is now more than twenty one years, since they were compelled to fly from fire and massacre; the patience and fortitude with which they have sustained their misfortunes, entitle them to sympathy and respect, and we hope that they will equally with other Frenchmen participate in the happiness, which the restoration of legitimate sovereignty will bring to that long persecuted, and oppressed nation.

NEW-YORK, April 15.

The United States frigate Guerriere came up from the Hook on Thursday morning, and anchored in the North River opposite the battery; and yesterday morning Com. Decatur shifted his broad pendant from the Constellation to the Guerriere.

Extract of a letter just received in this city, from an American gentleman in Cadiz, dated

"CADIZ, January 16, 1815.

"As to the political relations between Spain and the United States, I have very little at present to add to the information contained in my last. Mr. Erving lately appointed our minister near king Ferdinand, wrote from Paris to the Spanish secretary of state, and asked for a passport to come to Madrid in his official capacity: but I understand he received for answer, "That his Catholic "Majesty would not receive any minis- "ter or ambassador from America, so "long as the minister from Spain to the "United States was not received or ac- "knowledged there, although his Ca- "tholic majesty was desirous to strengthen the bonds of a sincere and gener- "ous amity with the U. States." The answer given to Mr. Morris, at Cadiz, by the late regency of Spain, and the one he received afterwards at Madrid from the king's ministers, were predicated on the same grounds: and it is said, that instructions have been sent to the Spanish minister in America, to make known to the President this resolution of his Catholic majesty."

RE-CAPTURE OF THE LEVANT.

By the British brig Hannah, in 10 days from Bermuda, we learn that the sloop of war Levant, (one of the Constitution's prizes) has been recaptured, and arrived at Bermuda a few hours before the Hannah sailed.

We also learn, that the Levant was recaptured by a single ship. No intelligence of the Constitution, had reached Bermuda.

Copy of a letter from Lieut. Hoffman to the Secretary of the Navy, dated

His Britannic Majesty's late ship Cyane,
New-York, April 10, 1815.

SIR—I have the honor to inform you, that on the evening of the 20th of February last, while cruising off Madeira, the United States' frigate Constitution fell in with his Britannic majesty's ship Cyane and Levant, which she captured after an action of 50 minutes.

The Cyane is a frigate built ship, and mounts 34 carriage guns, viz: 22 32lb. carronades on the quarter deck, 2 18lb. carronades and 2 long 9's on the forecastle, and from the best information I could obtain, carrying a complement of 175 men, commanded by G. Falcon, Esq.—The Levant mounting 21 carriage guns, viz: 18 24lb. carronades, 2 long 9's, and a shifting 12 pounder on the top gallant forecastle, with a compliment of 150 men commanded by the Hon. G. Douglass. Both ships suffered severely in their rigging, spars and sails. The Constitution received but trifling injury, having only 4 men killed and 10 wounded. As to the loss of the enemy, I cannot possibly ascertain, but I should presume it was very severe.

On the 9th of March, the Constitution, with her 2 prizes in company, anchored off the isle of May, (one of the Cape de Verd islands;) on the 10th, at 5 A. M. got under way and made sail for St. Jago, where we anchored at 10 45 A. M.; on the 12th at half past meredian, discovered 3 sail in the offing; at 1 10 made them to be frigates; at which time the Constitution made signal to get under way. At 1 20 cut our cable and made sail to the southward and eastward close on a wind. At 1 30 the forts on shore commenced firing on us; at 2 the Constitution made signal to tack, which I took to the northward and westward; at 2 the sternmost frigate commenced firing on us, and hoisted English colours, distance 2 miles. At 2 20 lost sight of the Constitution and Levant, who were standing on a wind to the southward and eastward, the frigates in chase; at 2 35 lost sight of the enemy; at 3 heard a heavy cannonading, which continued at intervals until half past 4; at sundown shaped my course for the U. S. For the further particulars of our cruise, I beg to refer you to capt. Stewart's official account on his arrival in the U. States.

I cannot conclude my letter without particularly recommending to your notice midshipman Joseph Cross, for whose unremitted exertions I feel myself greatly indebted, and he is a young man who I think would do honor to a commission.

As to midshipmen James D. Isaac and J. F. Curtis, and the few men I have under my command, words would be insufficient to express my gratitude towards them.

I have the honor to be, &c.

E. T. HOFFMAN.

Hon. B. W. Crowninshield, Sec'y. Navy.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

SATURDAY, APRIL 29, 1815.

It is worthy of remark, that our favorite ship of war, the Constitution, gained the first, and has now the last naval victory during the war.

A recapitulation of the British loss at New-Orleans, amounting to 4,950 men, is given in the Canada papers without comment.

The Dey of Algiers seems determined to give his subjects employment. Since the rupture with this country, he has sent away the French consul with much indignity.

The legislature of New-York, have been obliged to recur to borrowing money, for the purpose of meeting demands against the state. The sum is upwards of a million. New-York, before its commerce was clogged by embargoes and war, possessed funds in immense abundance—but following the examples and imitating the policy of the great democrats at Washington, she is like them run aground on the shoals of poverty—still she is democratic. Who unreasonably account for this?

The Nashville Whig, of the 6th of April, says, "The troops under Gen. Carroll were expected to arrive at the Choctaw agency between the 1st and 5th of this month. The Kentuckians under Gen. Thomas, marched up the lower road will be at least 8 or 10 days behind Gen. Carroll. Gen. Coffee's brigade have, probably, reached the Tennessee river ere this. Gen. Carroll's men had, when last heard from, no provisions except what was in their knapsacks—it being impracticable to get waggons on. It is said to be impossible for the provisions sent from this place to Gen. Carroll, to get past Brown's swamp, even should they get thus far—so that they must suffer for the want of something to eat—Gen. Thomas's division will fare much worse, since, as we understand, no requisition has been made on the contractors here, by that officer, for any supplies whatever.

"Col. Hynes writes us from the Choctaw agency, of the 29th ult. that Gen. Carroll's men will be discharged at the Tennessee river. Hence it would be much to their relief, and is certainly advisable, that those who have friends in that corps should go and meet them as soon as possible, with horses and provisions. It would be a pity that those brave defenders of their country should longer suffer, if in the power of their fellow-citizens to prevent it."

A writer in the Montreal Herald recommends, as a measure of future security against invasion, "that along the whole frontier of Lower Canada, bordering upon the states, there should be a depth of ten miles at least, perfectly laid waste." "Along the interior side of that range, let their be a chain settlement of discharged soldiers, or other persons of approved loyalty. This would be formed, as it were, a rampart against exterior attack, and a garrison to defend that rampart until assistance could be brought from a greater distance." The writer also declaims against permitting natives of the United States to settle in the Canadas.

It is understood, says a Baltimore paper, "That the Monument intended to be erected in this city to the memory of General WASHINGTON, will be erected on a lot of ground in a commanding situation in Howard's Park, the property of Col. Howard, having given a lot for that purpose."

A Spaniard, an Englishman, and an American, (named Cooke) have been tried by an English tribunal at Sierra Leona, and sentenced to 14 years residence at Botany Bay, having been convicted of being slave traders.

EXPEDITION TO ALGIERS.

We learn from a correct source, that the first squadron for Algiers will sail in a few days, under the command of Com. DECATUR. In a few weeks the second squadron will be ready, including the two ships—Com. BAINBRIDGE takes charge of this squadron, and on his arrival will command the fleet in the Mediteranean. It is stated that Com. CHAUNCEY has asked for, and obtained, the Washington 74 one of the fleet. Many officers of distinction join the expedition. Besides those already mentioned, we have heard of Coms. PERRY, and MACDONOUGH, Capts. JONES and J. D ELLIOTT. To the fleet will be attached a considerable number of our invaluable marines

A detachment of artillery under command of capt. ARCHER of this state, (the gallant officer who was on board the fleet on lake Ontario) will be sent with the expedition. Capt. A. will have the management of the shells, carcasses, rockets, &c. items of the proposed tribute.

A letter received in town, says the Marysville "Eagle," of April 21, from a gentleman at New Orleans, states "that Gen. Jackson has been prosecuted by the civil authority, and mulcted in damages to the amount of $ 1000, for, we suppose, presuming judge Hall, during the time martial law was enforced there.

Died, in Koningsberg, (Prussia) Mr. DANIEL ZIMMERMANN, one of the most charitable men of the age. He had given 60,000 florins for the establishment of schools, hospitals, &c, left 17,000 to the poor, and a bequest of 220,000 florins towards a foundation out of which might be paid annuities of 300 florins each, to 15 widows of decayed merchants; and annuities of 130 florins each to 40 poor men or widows of other classes.

Receipt for a fashionable route.—Take all the ladies and gentlemen you can get, place them in a room with a slow fire; stir them well; have ready a piano forte, a harp, a handful of books or prints, put them in from time to time; when the mixture begins to settle, sweeten it with AMIABLENESS, or WIT, (if you have it;) if you have flattery will do as well, and is very cheap. When all have stewed together for two or three hours, put in one or two turkeys, some tongues, sliced beef or ham tarts, cakes and sweetmeats, and some bottles of wine; the more you put in the better, and the more substantial your feast will be.

N. B. Fill your room quite full, and let it run off of itself.

MARRIED, on Thursday evening last by the Rev. Francis Herron, W. DICKINSON, Esq. Cashier of the Bank of Steubenville, to Miss MARY JETTON, daughter of Col. James Jetton, of Columbus, Ohio.

DIED, on the 15th inst. at the house of Dunning M'Nair, in Pitt township, Allegheny county, Mrs. MARGARET STEWART, consort of the late Col. George Stewart, in the 78th year of her age.—Communicated.

Doctor CHISHOLMS,

Anti-Bilious Pills,

OF A QUALITY

Superior to any thing of the kind ever offered as a

GENERAL MEDICINE,

IN THIS COUNTRY,

Now prepared from a recipe of the celebrated Dr. Chisholm, who, from a long residence in the West-India islands, has been enabled to favor the world with the most complete history, and most approved methods of curing all the BILIOUS DISEASES of those warm climates

This extraordinary medicine, which now for the first time is finding its way into general practice, has properties in the highest degree superior to the mercurial nostrums so frequently recommended by the name of Anti-Bilious Pills. The extraordinary powers of this medicine as a solvent and evacuant of bile, is without example; never producing debility, or injuring the health, in the smallest degree, of the most delicate child, or weakly female.

The BILIOUS HEAD-ACHE, so much complained of in this country, and in the neighbourhood of rivers, is often removed by a single dose, which, to a strong man, is only five pills, and to a weakly woman, three. The same dose will generally remove the most excrutiating pains of the cholic, like a charm, by abusing the bile to pass downwards in the course of an hour or two.

Two or three Pills taken an hour before dinner, and repeated every third day, will effectually remove those diseases arising from flatulency and indigestion, and by persevering in the use of them for a considerable time, the appetite will be improved, and strength and vigor will return.

Two Pills taken at bed time, with a cup of penny-royal tea, and repeated every second night, will effectually remove Rheumatic pains, wherever seated.

A single Pill, taken every fourth hour with a cup of flax-seed tea, will cure Pleurisy, promote expectoration, and relieve coughs and colds.

In CONSUMPTIVE CASES and diseases of the liver, no medicine ever yet discovered, has been known to perform such cures. Two Pills, taken every third morning, will be found sufficient, unless costiveness prevails; in which case, the dose may be increased according to the strength or constitution.

The Dysentery, Croup, and Summer Complaint on children, are soon relieved by a few doses. A single Pill to a child of 6 years old, and the dose increased according to their strength and age.

In Asthmatic or Phthisical cases, where the laborious breathing and great oppression, with faintings, are fast sinking the patient to the brink of the grave, a few Pills, taking one every hour, with fennel or pepper-mint tea, will often enable the patient to walk about in a few hours.

The above valuable Medicine is Sold ONLY in Pittsburgh, by
